Tree Carving Scavenger Hunt Clues

Zone 1

- a This carving represents a Haliaeetus leucocephalus that can be seen soaring above nearby rivers. Seek a location named for a president. You may want to salute as you pass by.
- b Taller than an elf, with a much bigger nose, this elf-like creature likes to hide on the north side at this geographical location (41.621650,-93.666290).
- c A member of the Caster genus sits in a yard down the street from "a" above.
- d Our local mascot sits on a drive with a name that sounds like a Dickens character.

Zone 2

- a This carving welcomes everyone to BVRDLE on ____dale.
- b Leave it to beaver to solve this "zippy" equation:
 $50-31+10=$ __, $50-31+0=$ __, $50-3-1+1=$ __.
- c This "beautiful" mascot can be seen running the blue oval and resides on XLVI Street.
- d Don't be crestfallen, just drive to find this pointy-hatted garden resident.
- e Whoo, whoo lives on a pike named for a state?

Zone 3

- a You might get confused between Place and Street, this one is in place and it's a hoot!
- b When you find this one, you have gone to the dogs and he is called Franklin.
- c On an avenue named after a dense growth of trees, you will find a wise nocturnal creature.

Welcome to Carving Quest!

Using the clues on Page 2 of this form, you will search within the Beavertdale neighborhood to locate specific tree carvings. The clues give hints regarding the location of the carving and the type of carving you'll find at that site. Clues are organized by zone which correlate to the map on Page 3, which helps isolate your search within the neighborhood.

Volunteers will be located at each tree carving location and will stamp your program to validate your discovery of the carving. Once you have located all of the tree carvings, or you've reached the 4 pm CST cutoff time, please add your contact information to Page 4 and turn in your form to volunteers at any tree carving location.

Persons who have located all, or the most tree carvings, will be entered into a drawing for prizes. Winning prize recipients will be notified shortly after the Carving Quest event. Please note, to be eligible for prizes you must submit a printed brochure to a volunteer which shows stamped confirmations of all tree sculptures you located.

We are so excited you have decided to participate in Beavertdale's first tree carving scavenger hunt. We appreciate homeowners willing to feature their amazing carvings in this event, and we ask all Carving Quest participants to be respectful of homeowners' carvings and property.
